

GENERAL DISCLAIMER

Igniting Ideas, Crafting Campaigns, Sparking success!

Disclaimer

Users are solely responsible for how they use the information from the website. MindzMap reserves the right to update or change the disclaimer at any time without notice.

MindzMap is not secured and for that reason cannot be considered confidential.

Accessibility and user-friendliness are guaranteed as much as possible for prevention of abuses and inaccuracies as well as to safeguard our values.

Because of our accessibility, we are happy to share information with you. However, it is paramount that information must be correct, current and clear for your own use. Naturally, we do not describe all possible options to change, edit, multiply and share websites and newsletters.

We inform you in general terms by providing general information on our website.

We therefore accept no liability for incorrect, incomplete or contradictory information on our website or in our newsletters. For specific situations and/or wishes you can contact us.

For your safety, we would like to point out that information sent to us via email or websites or newsletters to third parties and/or to the public, or to create a link between our website and that of another website cannot be done without our prior consent.

✓ We at MindzMap, take the utmost care of the information on our website.

✓ We own all intellectual property rights related to our website.